HELPFUL WORDS

From a Norway Citizen

Is your back lame and painful? Does it ache especially after exertion? Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms suggest weak kidneys. If so there is danger in delay. Weak kidneys get weaker fast. Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. Your neighbors use and recommend them. Ask your neighbor?

Read this Norway testimony. Mrs. A. L. Sanborn, Beal St., Norway, says: "I am perfectly satisfied Doan's Kidney Pills are a dependable medicine to relieve ailments resulting from disordered kidneys. I used them a few years ago and gave them a thorough trial. Since then I have had no return of kidney complaint and on that account I place a great deal of confidence in Doan's."

PATHWAYS THROUGH LIFE

You say that your life is a failure. Your future holds nothing that is sweet. That the troublous years bring little but tears. And always, always defeat.

Mistake—say, you say call them—May cover your past like a pall. But the soul that is strong to outlive its wrong. The bravest soul of all.

You long to go forth to the battle, But your feet are fettered quite; Remember, who serve in the corps of reserve May be able as those who fight.

You chafe to enter the races For pleasure and gold and fame. Find the prize but an empty name. The toil that is yours seems fruitless.

Your years are dreary and long; But the lowliest duty may glow with beauty. When wrought with a cheerful song.

The world's best sweats are denied you. You have tasted only the cup of woe; But who suffers to give that others may live, Has the noblest life, I trow.

Oh, wait, my friends, do bravely. The work that is yours is given. And smile in belief that what causes you grief, May keep us the closer to heaven.

The pathways we traverse are strewn. And some are by barrenest strand; But with vision grown wide we shall wonder At the path that leads to the land.

For they lead to the beautiful Land.

A SPELL OF REST

My wife has been urging me to take a month's leave from my work behind me, and the troubles that infest my life.

"I visit all my kindreds—for of late we've prospered well. I've worked so hard, she figures I should have a breathin' spell."

But seemingly there's something ails me. An "It" isn't there 't do it, things might seem to come 't harm.

So I tell her long in April: "Well, I guess I'll leave all care behind me when I get the plan approved."

The plan appears 't suit her, so I labor like a Turk. Through May and June kept busy by the sea.

By that time the wheat's 't harvest an' my early corn's in silk. There's cures that need attention and there's four fresh cows to milk.

An' then there's lots o' tinkering 'fore summer's here. The wheat crop's extra heavy an' I'll have to have more bins.

Somebody has to plan things an' it seems like I'm the one. I'll have that visit when I get the threshing done!

July slips into August and September runs its race. An' still my time is occupied 'tixin' up the place.

A-mendin' fences, maybe, pickin' apples, makin' hay. An' pretty soon October an' November's slipped away.

They fore one knows it, winter holds us in his frosty vice. The stock needs more attention, an' I have to put up with it.

An' I haven't time 't take that promised visit 'fore before 't half ready, 't would be plantin' time again!

FRUIT APPLE PARER

The first apple parer was made in Oxford County almost 120 years ago, and for nearly a century was used in the King family.

It was probably occupied a place in the hall of antiques during the centennial celebration of the Pine Tree State.

The parer was held on the knee with a strap that passed under the foot. It is a clumsy looking affair, entirely different from the parers used in apple factories.

The machine was made and helped lighten the labor of the housewives of the late 1700. In those days there were apple parings held every fall, and neighbors for several miles around took part.

Following the preparing of the apples to dry or preserve an old fashioned dinner was served. Next day the apples in the fireplace was hung with brass kettles for the making of apple preserves.

Quinces were added and enough molasses to give a spicy flavor.

In those days sugar was not used as sweetening, hence the old thing as a sugar famine was known. Molasses was used for everything, unless some housewife possessed a few pounds of sugar that had been brought from England.

This was not used for anything except to sweeten tea or coffee and was dealt out sparingly.

Apple butter was used extensively throughout the Pine Tree State a century ago although little is in evidence in the cellars of Maine farm houses today.

According to Maine records, apple pies were a State institution. Records show that apple pies were made by housewives here as far back as 150 years ago.

A letter recently found, which was written by a Delaware clergyman who visited the Maine province in 1800, reads as follows: "Apple is used in Maine throughout the year. They are both dried and green. They are the evening meal for children. Pie in country places is made of apples, neither peeled nor cored, and its crust would not be broken even, if a wagon wheel should pass over it."

Acrostic

Written for the Advertiser, Feb. 15, 1892 by H. C. Bacon of Bryant's Pond, Me. The sentiments expressed are as true now as they were 28 years ago:

Oh friends of Old Oxford, whatever your station,
Examine this paper and read it well through,
For in it you'll learn all about your relations,
On farm or in village, the news will reach you.

Remember for news it is hard to be beaten,
Direct from headquarters you get it each week,
Collected expressly by good correspondents,
Of all local items they freely will speak.

Universally liked by its legion of patrons,
Never failing to reach them wherever they roam,
To brothers and sisters, to maidens or matrons,
Yes, truly it reads like a "letter from home."

All ye who in business desire good attention,
Directly from those who can patronage give,
Very quickly you'll find if your business you mention,
Each newspaper notice will help you to live.

Remember, we ask, that the old Advertiser,
To most of your customers weekly will go,
In all of your plans can you think of a wiser?
Send in a big "ad" and your business will grow.

Exclude from our rhyming, all but the first letters,
Read rightly the name of a paper they show.

The Masons have placed an illuminated sign over the door at their hall in the form of a lamp lighted by electricity and the Odd Fellows have a similar one from the bay window at their hall. Both the Masons' and Odd Fellows' Halls which are in the same building, are lighted by electricity.

The dining room at the Beal's Hotel has been painted and decorated by G. W. Chaney and presents a very attractive appearance. It is in several colors that blend harmoniously. The air has been changed for eight incandescent lights, one over each table. A moulding has been put round the room for pictures and several other improvements made. This dining room was the pride of the late Ezra Beal, Gen. Beal's father, who built it and the General declares it to be the best proportioned dining room in the State of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Cummings and sons seldom do things by halves and their winter party, Friday evening was no exception to their general rule. There were twenty-eight tables. The guests were each presented with flowers cut from the Cummings green house. Refreshments of ice cream, cake, pop corn, etc., were served. There were over one hundred present. They crowded a good deal of enjoyment into the few hours and before midnight all were safely home. Everett Bicknell and Mrs. George Holmes were both entitled to the highest honors, having the same number of points.

WINTER EVENING'S OPPORTUNITY

Out of doors stands a naked world. The summer things are gone. But the home within is bright and warm. The seasons indoors reverse the order of the outdoor seasons. Nature's Winter is the human summer-time. With the first touch of frost the blood leaps faster and the mind grows clear. The fire is lighted on the hearth. Friends greet friends in cheery hospitality. Story-telling begins and the books come down from their dusty nooks. Winter is here again, but by the spirit's calendar it is spring within the heart.

The long winter evenings, the blazing fire, the children gathered about the apples and popcorn on the table, give promise of a splendid winter's harvest for the mind. The stories read to the children in the twilight hour will be remembered long after many of the textbook facts are forgotten. What an opportunity, through these stories, to plant the seeds of true Americanism within the growing mind! America is as rich in hero stories and in deeds of patriotism as any day as a part of the winter's sowing will assure a better America tomorrow.

And to the adult these long evenings give the opportunity for leisure wisely spent, or for self-education through reading and reflection. It would be a pity if the winter yielded no harvest to the mind. Let us be thankful for the long evenings. They may mean cold and snow without, but they may also mean a brighter light within the heart and home. —Minneapolis Journal.

There's a World of Solid Comfort In the Rich, Red Tin

YES, sir, we mean that same warm red and gold tin that smiles a welcoming "Howdy" to you in every tobacco store. Know what those colors mean?

The red is for the friendly warmth, the mellow cheeriness, that Velvet puts into your old pipe. And the gold is where the Kentucky sunshine, that ripens good old Velvet, has just sort of soaked through.

Remember what Velvet Joe said about it?

"You've met canned meat and canned music. Ever see any tinned sunshine? Well, look into any Velvet tin."

And think this over:

We don't have to hide Velvet's taste or smell with a lot of this, that and the other thing. Because Velvet has naturally what pipe smokers want—real simon-pure tobacco taste and fragrance. It's just good, honest Kentucky leaf, made still more friendly and mellow by two years' ageing in wooden hogsheads. Just good tobacco. That's all. But it's mighty near enough for the man who wants a pipeful of tobacco and not a box of bon bons.

BOYS' AND GIRLS' CLUBS

That there is in boys' and girls' club work substantial profit, as well as pleasure, experience and lessons in self-reliance, is shown by State Leader Ralph P. Mitchell's report of agricultural club work in Maine for the year 1919.

The 2049 club members who completed their projects and submitted financial statements and stories of their work, had a total season's production valued at $60,429.40. Their total costs of production, including a fixed charge per hour for their own labor, were $67,947.82, total net profits, $23,381.67.

The results by projects were as follows: Sweet corn, 147 enrolled, value of products $7,198.03, cost of production $3,220.33, net profit, $3,977.65; hint corn, 27 enrolled, product value $1,213.05, cost $631.84, profit $581.21; potatoes, 124 enrolled, value $14,422.39, cost $6,160.45, profit $8,261.94; gardens, 413 enrolled, value $4,340.54, cost $1,971.61, profit $2,368.93; canning, 600 enrolled, value $19,024.84, cost $14,158.15, profit $4,866.69; poultry, 159 enrolled, value $4,691.27, cost $2,694.41, profit $1,996.86; pigs, 254 enrolled, value $8,919.27, cost $6,210.98, profit $2,708.29.

In the eighth project, cooking and housekeeping in which no financial statement is kept, and the element of profit does not enter, 325 girls were enrolled.

Now sold from coast to coast and from Gulf to Great Lakes, throughout the United States and Canada.

Tanlac is purely vegetable and is composed of the most beneficial roots and herbs known to science. Formula complies with all national and state pure food health laws of United States and Canada.

Absolute merit responsible for unprecedented success.

World's Record Broken By Tanlac

Over Four Million Bottles Sold in 1919—the Fifth Year of Its History.

Tanlac has brought a new romance to the commercial world. It is the story of an acceptance and appreciation of merit never before attained by a proprietary medicine. Staid businessmen to whom the actual figures of the production of Tanlac have been presented have scouted them until the proof was shown. The production of Tanlac now stands at the rate of almost four million bottles per year. The exact figures are 3,992,800. The sale of a million bottles in the first nine months which far exceeded any record ever made by a proprietary medicine, now seems insignificant.

OVER 17,000 BOTTLES A DAY

The sale for the first ten weeks of last year amounted to over one million bottles, an average of over one hundred thousand bottles per week, which is at the rate of more than seventeen thousand bottles per day, and the total sales for 1919, the fifth year of Tanlac's history, was more than four million bottles. It seems almost incredible, but these are actual figures and such a record established by this wonderful medicine.

"One firm alone," said Mr. G. F. Willis, the international distributor of Tanlac, "has given orders for a total of 150,000 bottles within eighteen months' time. The firm I refer to is the Spurlin-Neal Co., of Nashville, Tenn. Mr. C. S. Martin, president of this great firm, who is also president of the Southern Drug Jobbers' association, will verify this statement.

Tanlac is the result of many years of arduous study by Mr. Cooper and his principal chemist. In fact, the two of them have carefully watched its development from the beginning of the experimental stage to its present state of efficiency. So remarkable have been the results obtained from this medicine that I doubt seriously if either of them men realize the immensity of their success. Like many other great discoveries, it has required time to prove its far-reaching effects."

Tanlac, the Celebrated Medicine Which Has Been Accomplishing Remarkable Results in the United States and Canada, Will Now Be Sold in Norway by A. L. Clark

Drug Co. Remarkable Sales Record of Sixteen Million

Bottles Phenomenal and Unprecedented.

Tanlac, the celebrated medicine which has been accomplishing such remarkable results throughout the United States and Canada, and which has been having a phenomenal sale wherever it has been introduced, will now be sold in Norway by A. L. Clark Drug Co., the amazing success achieved by this medicine in only five years' time is not only phenomenal, but unprecedented.

The discovery of Tanlac, the beginning of its manufacture, the establishment of the large and modern laboratories at Dayton, Ohio, occupying more than 60,000 feet of floor space, reads more like fiction than facts from latter-day commercial history.

Sixteen Million Bottles Sold in Five Years

Although placed on the market but little more than five years ago, over sixteen million bottles have been sold, and its sales record probably has never been equalled in the history of the drug trade in America.

From coast to coast and from Gulf to the Great Lakes, Tanlac is known and honored. Millions have taken it and have pronounced it the greatest medicine of all time. No matter where you go throughout the United States, whether East, West, North or South, Tanlac is a household word and is now unquestionably the most widely talked of medicine in the world today.

Briefly, this is the record of the truly marvelous medicine which will now be placed within the reach of everyone. In only a few weeks' time it will be placed on sale in practically every large city, town, village and hamlet throughout the entire section.

OLDEST COUPLE IN CASCO

One of the oldest couple in Casco is James Rolfe and his wife, Caroline (Jordan), who come of pioneer stock. They are living near South Casco. They are the father and mother of nine children, of whom seven are living. They are Herman and Clarence, both of Bridgton, Archie of Westbrook, Harry of Rochester, N. H., Minerva Bartlett of Rochester, Edna Edwards of Poland and Rose Manchester, who is living with the aged couple this winter. James was the son of William Rolfe of Munjoy Hill section, who was born in 1772. William Rolfe had nine children, the only remaining ones being James and Lemuel. There were three of the boys who married Jordan sisters. His ancestors extend back to the historical James Rolfe and the well known Pocahontas. James served in the Civil war.

On his birthday he had a party of his children and grandchildren which represented four generations. Mr. Rolfe had a number of grandchildren in the world war. He was not content to set back and be a slacker so had a large war garden which he took care of all alone. This last summer he also had a garden though not as large.

One of his grandchildren tells of spending a few days there in harvesting and rising one morning about half past six he noticed Mr. Rolfe with an ax started to see him later lugging poles on his back to stack his beans. This shows he believes in the old adage, "The early bird catches the worm." His wife, Caroline, did the work for a family of three during the whole summer. Mr. Rolfe is 86 years old and his wife 83. We hope they will continue in their activity for many years.

FEED THE BIRDS

Birds must eat to live and the snow that now mantles the earth has covered nearly all the feeding grounds of the feathered songsters who eke out an existence precariously in winter at best. They are the best agency for bug and insect destruction in summer, but humanity is blessed with so that the square deals demands due consideration of this fact on the part of the beneficiaries in winter.

Toss bread crumbs and table scraps of all kinds out of the window instead of throwing them where they will do no good. It is quite as thrifless to destroy waste as to be prodigal of more valuable by products. Tiny scraps from the breakfast, dinner, lunch or supper tables will be picked up eagerly by thrown within reach of all kinds of birds that need such generosity after every big storm. There is not a family in the town but what can spare the crumbs, at least, to furnish plentiful meals for the birds for they will find every little scrap that is scattered out of doors.

NORWAY MEDICINE CO.

JOSEPH ANDREWS' CALIFORNIA TRIP

Glendale, Cal., Jan., 1920.

Dear Advertiser:—The latter part of November I received a card from Pearl Andrews of Exira, Iowa, announcing the death of his sister, Jessamine Andrews. She died in the Iowa Insane Asylum and was buried beside her father in the Exira cemetery. She was born April 16, 1877, and died Nov. 19, 1919. Within the last few years Pearl has lost by death, his mother, his brother, Claude, his father, and now his sister. As his father, the late H. F. Andrews, was a native of Lovell Center, Maine, his school friends living there will undoubtedly be interested to hear of these facts about his family.

Besides Pearl there are three other brothers, Charles, John and Philip, all stalwart, forcible young men. They all live in Wyoming and own valuable cattle ranches. They live in the midst of a fine hunting and fishing country and I hope to visit them next summer and try my luck at catching some of their choice rainbow trout.

The following sketch of former South Bridgton people may be of interest to some of your Advertiser readers living in that section of the Pine Tree state. Some over a month ago word came to me that Charles Fitch had lately died at his home in Middleboro, Mass. Fifty to sixty years ago there was no more interesting young people living at South Bridgton than the boys and girls of the Powers, Fitch and Fessenden families. Elizabeth, Viola and Andrew Powers, Edwin, Charles and Sarah Fitch and Thomas and Mary Fessenden.

E. P. Fitch married Elizabeth Powers and T. S. Fessenden, Viola Powers. Andrew Powers never married and at his death last Christmas a year ago, left $10,000 in his will to his life long friend, Charles Fitch. The latter late in life married a Massachusetts lady, who is now his widow. Of these married above, Sarah Fitch, now Mrs. Berry of South Bridgton, remained at home and Mary Fessenden moved to New Knoxville, Tenn., where she married and died long years ago. The other six all moved to Wisconsin about 1897 and about 1873-3 they all moved to South Dakota and took up government land in Turner and Sanborn County, where they grew up with the country and prospered. All have passed over to the other shore except Mr. Fitch, who is living with his daughter at Lakeside, Calif., and Mrs. Fessenden, who is living with her daughter, Levia at their beautiful home at San Diego, Cal. They were all of them a credit to their native town and state and in the great and growing west they and their children have been highly honored and have done their share towards making this a better land to live in.

On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 16, 1919, I took the train at Hanley, South Dakota, and started out on my sixth round trip to the Golden state and after an all night's ride arrived at the fine $20,000,000 Union depot at Kansas City, Mo., and about 10 a. m., Friday, I boarded the tourist sleeper on the Santa Fe. B. R., bound for Los Angeles, Cal., with two stops between Albuquerque, New Mexico and Parris, Cal.

All day Friday and Friday night and all day Saturday the train moved swiftly on and about 10 p. m. at night it pulled up at the depot of St. Albuquerque, where I was met by my cousin and old school-mate, the Rev. Josiah Heald and his son, Jr., who with their Ford soon landed me at their parsonage home. Mr. Heald, as superintendent of the Congregational churches of New Mexico and Arizona, is a very busy man and I had only an hour to visit with him as he had to take the night train for Grand Rapids, Mich., to attend the Congregational National Council.

Mrs. Heald is also an ordained minister and with her and her son, Josiah, I passed a very pleasant Sunday. It was in fact, a red letter day for men and many others, for King Albert and his train passed through the city that day and we gave a grand reception by the citizens of Albuquerque.

With my young friend, Heald, in his auto we were early at the show and chose a good location quite near the royal throne and were well repaid for our time and trouble by what we saw of Bolshoi's three most noted and heroic leaders.

Albuquerque has a population perhaps of 20,000, about half and half, Indians and Americans. It is on the Rio Grande river and at an elevation of almost 5,000 feet. There are five buildings, electric cars, lights, etc. The Mexican part is built mostly of sun dried brick and in contrast to the American city has a rather tumble down appearance. It is noted as a health resort and several consumptive sanatoriums have been built here. Rev. Mr. Heald is a good example of what this climate will do for people with weak lungs. Of his father's family of 12 children five died with consumption and he in his early ministry had lung trouble and hemorrhages from the lungs. He tried various climates, but not until he came to Arizona and New Mexico did he find relief. Now he is strong and well, a perfect picture of health.

He was born in Lovell Center and Mrs. Heald is a daughter of Elder Pike of Fryeburg or Stow. They are a credit to their native state and have made good in their labors in the upbuilding of their adopted homes in Arizona and New Mexico.

On Monday night I took the 8 p. m. train and continued my journey to the west. All Monday night, all day Tuesday and Tuesday night we sped upon our way and by early dawn Wednesday morning we had left a thousand miles of dry desert behind and about 8 a. m. arrived at the beautiful city of San Bernardino, in a land of flowers and fruit, where Jack Frost seldom comes, and where irrigation and summer heat makes the land to bud and blossom like the rose. Here I left the main line and took a car on a stub line that runs 30 miles west to Parris, Calif., where I visited for three days with my old South Dakota friend, Dr. E. E. Dill and family.

On Saturday morning I returned to San Bernardino and resumed my journey of 60 miles to Los Angeles, where I arrived about noon, where I was met by my nephew, Ellsworth Pike. We took an electric car to Glendale, 1231 Maryland Ave., where I was soon at home with my sister and her family. I think I have made this letter long enough for this time so will close and continue my story some other day. The Editor has my thanks for the sample tin handle, which I will use as soon as I find a suitable can to go with it.—Joseph Andrews.

Do the pennies count? If you don't think so just hand them to us. The extra cent put on letter postage during our participation in the war yielded the government the tidy sum of $110,000,000.

In further explanation of this definition the Census Bureau describes the term "agricultural operations" as referring to the work of growing crops, producing other agricultural products, raising domestic animals, poultry or bees.From this definition, a farm may consist of a single tract of land or of a number of separate tracts. These several tracts may be held under different tenures; as, for instance, one tract is owned by the farmer and another is rented by him. Thus, if a man owns one hundred acres rents an additional ten acres from someone else and operates both the hundred acres and ten acres; then his "farm" includes both tracts of land comprising one hundred ten acres.
By the same token, when a landowner has one or more tenants, renters, croppers or managers, each different tract of land operated by such individuals is considered a separate and distinct farm by the Census Bureau. For example, if a man owning one hundred twenty acres of land rents forty acres to a tenant and farms the remaining eighty acres himself, his farm is the eighty acres which he operates, not the one hundred twenty acres which he owns, while the forty acre tract which he rents to the tenant comprises a separate farm to be reported in the name of the tenant.

The importance of the agricultural enterprise largely determines whether or not it would be recognized in the census as a farm. A small vegetable garden or a chicken yard accommodating a few industrious hens, will not be allowed to qualify as a "farm" no matter how successfully it is operated or what abundant profits accrue. After the garden or chicken yard expands until it includes at least three acres of ground, or until its care requires the continuous services of at least one person, or it yields products which annually aggregate $250 or more in value, it comes within the census definition of a farm and will be recognized as such.

It is desirable that all farmers prepare for the coming census reporter, who will request from them information concerning the farm values, expenses and live stock sales, and acreage and quality of the crops raised during 1919. In order that the farmers may have this information readily at hand, it is suggested that they refer in detail to their books and records in time so as to have accurate answers available when the enumerator arrives. In this connection, the Bureau of the Census emphasizes the fact that the information furnished to census takers is absolutely confidential, made so by act of Congress, and that under no circumstances can any such information be used as a basis for taxation.
"Cooperation between farmers and the census officials next January is more necessary and vital than ever before," declares the Director of the Census.
"The World War and the part that the farmer played in it and will continue to play in the rehabilitation section of the Fourteenth Decennial Census the most important in the Nation's history."—Argus.EAST STONEHAMAmos McAllister died Jan. 27th following a long illness at the home of his granddaughter, Mrs. Alton Grover, Bolster's Mills. Chandler-Marks
The marriage of Susie May Marks, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marks, and Harold Walter Chandler of Bethel, Maine, was quietly celebrated Saturday morning, February 7, at nine thirty, at the home of the bride's parents, 4412 Chestnut Avenue, Newport News, Va. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. I. T. Jacobs of Oremut Ave. Baptist Church, and was witnessed only by the relatives and intimate friends of the bride and groom. The home was prettily decorated, the aisle and altar being formed of palms and ferns.

The bride, who entered with the groom, wore a dark blue traveling suit of tulle with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Preceding the ceremony, Florence Guard of Stevens City, Virginia, rendered on the piano, "Tell Me That You Love Me," followed by the bridal march from Lohengrin, and later Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler left on the ten o'clock train for Washington, D. C., and on their return will make their home with the bride's parents.

Mrs. Chandler is a school teacher in her home city, and during the late war was prominent in every department which the Oremut Avenue Baptist Church conducted for the betterment of soldiers and sailors stationed at Newport News.

The bridegroom is the son of Walter S. Chandler of Norway. He was graduated from Gould Academy, Bethel, and was employed at the Rumford Falls National Bank and the Augusta Trust Co. at Winthrop before enlisting in the quartermaster department, regular army, in June 1917. Serving through the war at the Animal Embarkation Depot, Newport News, Va., he received his discharge in 1919 as forage master with rank of sergeant.

After returning to civilian life, he was employed by the government as forage inspector, until entering the auditing department of the Newport News Dry Dock and Ship Building Co., a position he still holds.

Fast Basket Ball Friday Night
Gould Academy will not play a return game here Friday evening as arranged on the schedule. The excuse they believe only in "good sportsmanship and cannot play Norway High," rather suggests that the Norway quintet belong to the cave man gang or Capt. Kidd's sea robbers.

The Island Pond, Vt. High School are not coming and will appear against the local outfit at Norway Opera House, Friday evening, Feb. 13. Game called at 8.15. The visitors have not been defeated in two years, hence a rattling good battle may be expected. Norway High has the fighting blood and is most of the way. It was the biggest steady work under best factory conditions is offered. Call at factory office. The Baxter Paper Box Co., Brunswick, Me.

Dancing will follow with the Imperial Singing Orchestra in attendance.

Business was practically at a stand still Friday owing to the severe snow storm. Mails were several hours late and the stage from Bolster's Mills and East Stoneham were delayed several hours, having to walk their horses the entire distance, breaking their own track most of the way. It was the biggest storm of the season, some over a foot of snow fell.

FARMING PRESERVED IN PICTURES
Some crank on literary speculation once said that if every copy of the Bible and every copy of Shakespeare in existence were destroyed, it would be possible the next day to reproduce them letter perfect, from the memory of men and women. Probably he would depend almost wholly on the "mental storage" of ministers and actors. Following out the analogy, it is hardly too much to say that if all knowledge of agriculture were blotted out of the minds of men tomorrow, it would be possible to reconstruct good agriculture from the pictures in the possession of the United States Department of Agriculture.

The Section of Illustrations turned out during the last fiscal year, 191,000 pieces of photography. The subjects ranged from organisms so small that they had to be photographed through a high power microscope to fumigation tanks large enough to admit a whole train of freight cars at once, from a fever tick fastened to the hide of a cow to magnificent stretches of forest and pasture caught from the tops of high mountains. And the Section of Illustrations has been at work for 21 years. It has not confined itself to photography, either. It works with the pencil and the camera alike as means to the end. It is not doing all this work, let it be understood, on the far call of rebuilding agriculture if it should be destroyed, but for the purpose of instructing the public, day by day, in the art of better farming.

All these pictures are used in educational work of some kind. They are printed in bulletins, on leaflets, in newspapers; are shown directly to farmers and farmers' wives by county agents, home-demonstration agents, and others; are displayed at fairs and other exhibitions on one way or another are brought to the attention of the people of the country over who are interested in growing more and better food for the consumers of the country and in living more comfortably and getting more out of life for themselves while they are doing it.

INTERESTED IN FIGHTING TUBERCULOSIS?
Will you be as surprised as we have been to learn that over 25,000 residents of Maine have died of tuberculosis within the last twenty-five years? That in our generation twenty-four thousand three hundred and sixty-five of our neighbors and our neighbors' children have been claimed by tuberculosis of the lungs alone? That approximately half of these (11,257) died in the very flower of manhood and womanhood, between the ages of twenty and forty, and that most of them might have been saved?

If you have not already given according to you interest and ability, please mail check or money order, made payable to the Maine Anti-Tuberculosis Association, to the treasurer, 27 State Street, Bangor.

If you want Economy Handles will send them by mail—3 handles and a punch for 25 cents. Stamps taken. F. W. Sanborn, Norway, Me.

If you have anything to sell or give away, use the Intelligence Column of this paper. If you want to buy, use it.

Some women have very sweet dispositions, but their next door neighbors seldom know it.

SOUTH PARIS

Cream Production

An increased production in cream and milk by the patrons around South Paris, of the Turner Center System, is reported by T. M. Davis, manager of that branch. "According to our records, the production for the month of December was 60 per cent. more than it was a year ago. The number of patrons has not increased to any extent, but the others seem to have greatly increased their production. Some of them are going into pure bred stock and others are beginning more and more to realize that it is the productive cow that pays today and a general shifting of their herd has been done in many cases."

For the month of December the farmers were paid 65 cents a pound for butter fat, and $1.05 for milk. At the present time there are 175 farmers supplying milk. Although a branch of the Turner Center System the product from that place all goes to Portland where it is marketed.

During the past year 5,670,388 pounds of milk was brought into the factory by the surrounding farmers. The year before, 3,457,356 was produced. The South Paris branch includes the town of Norway, and the immediate vicinity. There is also a plant at Rumford, one at Bryant's Pond, one at Bethel and another at Gilead.

Among the larger producers at the South Paris branch is J. Henry Record, who is bringing in a ton of milk a week. This winter from a fine herd of grade Holsteins he is keeping. Other large producers include the Jackson Brothers, Millett Brothers and Grant Abbott of Norway, L. A. Brooks, South Paris, Frank Bennett, Paris Hill.

WOODSTOCK
Woodstock Wins Twice

The school basketball team had little difficulty in defeating the second team of the Woodstock Athletic Club here Wednesday evening. The score was 32 to 10. Packard shot ten baskets from the floor for the high school. The score:

W. H. S.	Goals	Fouls	Total
Packard, Jr.	10	0	20
Vetkusky	2	0	4
Chase	0	0	0
Cushman, Jr.	1	0	2
W. A. C.	15	3	32

Referee, Brooks and Chase. Time, twenty minutes.

Saturday evening the Athletic Club defeated the Bethel Independents 34 to 23 in Dudley Opera House. Both teams played fairly rough basketball and consequently there were many spills and bumps. At the end of the first half Bethel led by the score of 15 to 10. In the last few minutes of play, however, the visitors seemed to weaken and Stevens, the ranger center, and R. Hathaway, the wing, were able to take the lead with little opposition. The score:

W. A. C.	Goals	Fouls	Total
R. Hathaway, Jr.	8	2	18
Johnson, Jr.	2	0	4
Stevens	2	0	4
Crooker, Jr.	0	0	0
L. Hathaway, Jr.	1	0	2
Bethel	16	2	34

Referee, Chase, Umpire, Howe, Time, twenty minutes.

The schools were closed Friday because of the storm.

At the regular meeting of the Jackson Silver Post of the American Legion last Thursday evening, Lester Tibbets of Locke's Mills was appointed to represent the post at meeting to be held in Waterville soon.

The High School basketball team was forced to postpone their trip to Mexico because of the bad traveling. They will go there next Friday for their game.

The meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held on Tuesday instead of Thursday as usual.

A surprise party was given Mrs. Stenning Friday evening, the occasion being her birthday. She was presented a cut glass pitcher and sugar bowl. Refreshments were served.

Simply Worn Out

How Many Women Are Like This?

Can anything be more wearing for women than the ceaseless round of household duties? Oh! the monotony of it all—work and drudge; no time to be sick; tired, ailing, yet cannot stop. There comes a time when something "snaps" and they find themselves "simply worn out," and to make matters worse, have contracted serious feminine disorder which almost always follows the constant overtaxing of a woman's strength.

Then they should remember that there is no remedy like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—the experience of these two women establishes that fact:

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—"After the birth of my last child I had such painful spells that would not let me entirely for my household. I suffered for months and the doctor said that my trouble was organic and I would not consent to an operation. That was an awful thing to me, with a young baby and four other children, so one day I thought of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how it had helped me years before and I decided to try it again. I took five bottles of Vegetable Compound and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and since then I have been a well woman, able to take care of my house and family without any trouble or a day's pain. I am ready and thankful to swear by my medicine any time. I am forty-four years old and have not had a day of illness of any kind for three years."

—Mrs. H. KOENIG, 617 Ellis Blvd., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

BANKRUPT LAND

They don't know much in the big cities about the decreased productive power of agricultural land. But we haven't their excuse.

We are not all farmers in Norway. But we are in a better position than New Yorkers and Chicagoans to know what a farm looks like. There are people in the metropolis who don't seem to know that you get milk from a cow. They think you get it from a milkman. They think tomatoes come from a can. But there are cogent truths in the science of agriculture which both New York and Norway seem content to ignore, and which grim necessity will force us to recognize. We shall find the schooling less painful if we start the course at once.

The chemical elements which make soil fertile are nitrogen, potassium, phosphorus, sulphur, sodium and a few others. The production of various crops impoverishes the soil in proportion to the quantity of these ingredients which they subtract from it.

At the price which tobacco farmers now pay for fertilizer the growth of one ton of tobacco takes from the soil $120 worth of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

There are now in the United States less than 750,000 square miles of land waiting to be cultivated, including all ground not yet drained or irrigated. When this is taken up the steady course of soil exhaustion will be in progress everywhere, and it will be a simple problem in arithmetic how soon we will be agriculturally bankrupt. Altogether it seems high time for us to be taking under consideration the question of maintaining the fertility of arable land.

Sugar beets draw chemical strength from the soil, but beet sugar, after refining, does not contain the ingredients. It remains in the pulp and leaves. That is why the Germans exported beet sugar but returned the pulp to their own soil as fertilizer. It contained the nourishing chemicals and the fecundity of the land was unimpaired.

What they did in Europe we can do. Hitherto the richness of untapped resources have enabled us to neglect those thrifty policies with which older nations have been able to prevent the exhaustion to which all cultivated land is eventually liable. The sooner we start the work of conservation the easier we shall find it.

BETHEL

Committed Suicide

Fred C. Bean of East Bethel took his own life by hanging Friday evening. Mr. Bean had been despondent for some time but had seemed more cheerful for the previous week. Friday night he went to the home of his son, Freeborn Bean, which was near his home to do the chores. Not returning to the house as soon as expected, Mrs. Freeborn Bean went to look for him and found his body suspended in the barn, but life was extinct.

Mr. Bean was the son of the late Eliphaz and Sarah Farnham Bean and was born East Bethel, March 23, 1858. In 1884 he married Terry Bartlett, who survives him with two sons, Lester, principal of Phillips high school and Freeborn, who lived near the old home, also one sister, Mrs. Edmund Merrill of Bethel Hill.

Mr. Bean was an honest industrious man and a prosperous farmer. He was a kind husband and an affectionate father, and was much respected by his associates. He was a member of the Knights of Pythias and that order performed its ceremony at the funeral, which was held at the home Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. H. Little of the Bethel Universalist church officiated and burial was at the cemetery near the East Bethel church.

GREENWOOD

Surprise Party

Eighteen friends gathered together at the home of Mrs. Bertha Emmons Tuesday evening, where Mrs. Emmons, assisted by Ruth Cole, had arranged for a surprise to be given her sister, June Swan, who without the least suspicion of the game, was invited out to take supper with Mrs. W. F. Yates, and on returning found her friends had met there to welcome her few days' visit in town. No words could express her joyful surprise.

All enjoyed playing games and the preparation for refreshments added much excitement for all took part in the peanut hunt, candy pull and corn popping. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Della Millett went to Lewiston Thursday to call on her sister, Marion Love, who is in the C. M. G. Hospital. Mrs. Love was moved from Ward C to a private room, where she will receive the best of treatment and improve much faster.

June Swan, who has been visiting with her sister, Mrs. Bertha Emmons, has returned to her home in Portland.

The heavy snow storm which fell Thursday night and Friday, blocked the roads, which made it inconvenient for our R. F. D. man to make his usual trip, but he succeeded in making the round Saturday, plunging through the crust.
